Telecommunications Services

GSA leverages and aggregates government buying power to obtain the full-range of end-to-end telecommunications products and services, including local and global voice, data, and video services, to support local users (Regional) and long-distance users (Global Network Solutions). Regional and Global Network Solutions operating units assist in defining requirements, identifying solutions, ordering services, and managing the ongoing provision of services, including billing operations.

Offerings: Global Network Solutions (long distance), local telecommunications service, wireless communications, technical and management support services, international calling, infrastructure, satellite and services, Internet access, and more.

Professional Services

GSA provides fee-based acquisition support to customer agencies. You define the project and the budget and GSA assists in developing and implementing the proper acquisition strategy. PS provides pre-award, award and post-award management, as well as assisted acquisition, project management, procurement support and financial management services using the Multiple Award Schedules (MAS).

IT Solutions

GSA ITS comprises several complimentary programs tailored to e-government executives' needs. ITS supports all levels of competitive outsourcing of IT projects and services through contracts with the private sector. GSA provides acquisition, project management, and financial management services to assist federal agencies in identifying, acquiring, deploying, managing and using technology solutions. GSA also provides a broad range of information security services and solutions to help customer agencies, at home and abroad, to protect their data and related systems. GSA assists agencies in purchasing from our complete portfolio of fully-competed contracts and other government-wide sources, to include the Multiple Award Schedules.
