

FSSI Office Supplies A Federal Strategic Sourcing Initiative

The More Organizations Spend with FSSI OS2, the More Everyone Saves!

The Federal Strategic Sourcing Initiative (FSSI) is an OMB-sponsored program focused on analyzing all costs associated with a product or service under management, in order to generate savings through requirements development, acquisitions, and behavior changes. FSSI solutions are developed through a cross-government team that uses a structured and collaborative process to analyze an organization's spending, compares the results to best-in-class practices, and then uses this information to make business decisions about acquiring and using commodities and services more effectively and efficiently.

FSSI Office Supplies Program Metrics (through July 2012)

- Savings through FSSI: $54.2 million, more than 11%, with some agencies showing savings of up to 26%
- Savings per month on average: $3.0 million
- Spend through FSSI: $414.1 million on more than 900,000 transactions
- Small Business Utilization: 75.4% ($312.8 million)
- AbilityOne Utilization: 18.8%
- Green Items (EPP or CPG): 26%
- So far in FY 2012, $195.5 million has been spent and $28.0M (12.5%) has been saved***

In this critical time of reduced budgets, savings can be achieved by controlling spending. That's why the Second Generation Federal Strategic Sourcing Initiative for Office Supplies (FSSI OS2) is here. This cross-agency strategic sourcing initiative allows the government to combine its purchasing power, analyze spending to understand how and what we are buying, and follows all government regulations. What could be better?
