

gsa supports homeland security

protecting what matters

by Todd Posey

Now, more than ever, it is important to protect what matters. The Federal community, especially the new Department of Homeland Security, is tasked with complex responsibilities to keep our nation safe. GSA plays an important role in this effort by offering a full line of products and services to support the tasks of protecting people, information, and government assets.

Whether you are installing a surveillance and security system, increasing preparedness for biological attack, outfitting an office with new furniture, supporting transportation infrastructure, or educating and communicating to the public, GSA has a solution.

When it comes to protecting our homeland, GSA has thousands of quality contractors in place to help your agency prepare, prevent, and respond to critical events. GSA contractors provide a full range of planning solutions such as contingency and response planning, chemical/biological threat reduction, vulnerability assessments, and disaster preparedness modeling and analysis. Contractors are also in place to respond to an actual event providing everything from emergency equipment and supplies to the services necessary to perform your agency's mission. GSA stands ready to support your Homeland Security needs by providing quality products and services, as follows.
